MAJOR DELMAR IN CUP RACE

C. K. G. Billings Announces That He Will Enter His Great Trotter In Gold Challenge Event.

Cleveland, Aug. 5.-Major Delmar (1:59%) has been named by C. K. G. Billings as his starter in the Gold Chal-lenge cup event, and this practically assures the cup becoming the permanent property of the Gentlemen's Driving club, for Major Delmar is in great form a temporary injunction restraining the sale of pools at the Irvington race track in this county. The injunction was sought by the representatives of Elizabeth Ryan, owner of the property, which is leased by the Multnomah Fair association for racing purposes. The effect of the decision will be to stop all betting at the track and may result in the abandonment of the present racing season. A pecaliar feature in connection with the case is that in years past neither Elizabeth Ryan nor her representatives have done aught by encourage the sale of pools. It is alleged that the demurrer was sought because the bookmakers privileges were not granted to a rela-

Visiting Cricket Team Beats Pick of New York Players by a Score of 241 to 191.

New York, Aug. 5.—By the low score of 241 to 191 for two innings, the visiting cricketers from the Marylebone club of England defeated the picked eleven from the clubs comprising the Metropolitan Instrict league of New York today. The match, which began yesterday, was even on the first innings, with the local men just one run in the lead, but today the visitors outbatted and outfielded the home players. The contest was witnessed by one of the largest gatherings ever seen on a local cricket grounds, fully 5,000 persons being present.

IN EVERY RACE.

The first bad mixup of the Calder's and for a time it was thought he was seripaid William Shields $30,000. McCarren's ously hurt. Later it developed that a Voorhees almost beat the barrier, so quick was he to break. Mohawk II was almost as quick, and his long, methodical strides soon carried him to the fore. He was never headed. The attendance was the best of the meeting. The track was last, Mohawk II covering the five and a half furlongs in 1:07, the same time made by Sysonby last year in the same race. Summary:

First race, seven furlongs—Rubric won, Goldsmith second, Mad Mullah third. Time—1:92 4-5.

Second race: North American steeple-chase, about two and a half miles—Sandhurst won, Jimmy Lane second. Time—5:28.

Third race, the Saratoga special, five the wire with the rest of the field, getting third place. severe shaking up was about all ting third place.

Taylor was hauled to the stable in a buggy, being mable to walk. It was given out that he was not seriously hurt.

Four events made up the card yesterday and all were interesting. What was to be the feature of the race of the afternoon, the seven furlongs was captured by Los Angelino who won by going all the way. Mocorito, with Los Angelino sold favorite, and the race was between these two horses, Los Angelino taking the lead on the first turn was never headed, although pushed every inch of the way. Cash Day and Red Damsel fought it out all the way for the third position. Red Damsel taking the place under the liberal use of the gad.

Argot gave Dora L, favorite in the five and one half furlongs, a run for the money and came home a close second. The Pat Ryan horse was the biggest inoney maker in the field and many played her to show, which she did in a manner that was surprising.

Pretty Finish in Second Race.

Egg Shell and Lady Paladine, were first choice horses in the second race and the finish between them was the prettiest race of the day.

Lady Paladine got away with the flag and held the place to within the last couple of strides of the wire. Trillum fought the Crooks mare for the first half of the distance, then Egg Shell showed for second place, holding this position around the last turn. Coming up the stretch, the field bunched and in a hard drive for the wire, Egg Shell nosed out over Paladine.

Little Phil and Annie Marie, even money favorites in the first race, showed that bookmakers knew their business by landing first and second place.

Yesterday was a favorite's day all around, the even money horses winning each race. The attendance was again light, but larger than on the first day.

Aug. 5.—The latest baseball rimor in this city is to the effect that Pat Powers, president of the Eastern league, will succeed Harry Pulliam as president of the National league at the next election. The source of the story cannot be ascertained. President Dreyfuss of the local club denied knowing anything about it, and refuses to say whether or not he would support Powers' candidacy. "Powers has his hands full in looking after his own club," Dreyfuss remarked. There is a strong belief that Pulliam had arranged matters for his re-election before the issuance of his recent letter treating on the report that Dreyfuss would throw his club into the American league.

HIT WITH BATTED BALL DIES IN FIVE MINUTES

New York. Aug. 5.—While a game of baseball was being played at Hamilton terrace, Trenton, N. J., Frederick Whittaker, the shortstop, was hit over the heart by a ball batted by Willam Molsell, and died five minutes afterward. Holsell had just gone to the bat and smashed the first ball pitched. In endeavoring to stop it the ball went through the gloves of Whittaker and knocked him down. Getting up, Whittaker tried to go on with the game, but hemorrhage set in and an ambulance was called. A physician worked over the young man on the way to St. Francis hospital, but he died before the building was reached. Whittaker was 19 years old and was considered a good athlete. As soon as the matter was reported to the police Coroner Disbor went to the hospital and took charge of the body. He will hold an inquest Monday, but it is thought there will be no arrests.

League Player Gets the Rowdy Habit.

People who witnessed the incident believe the Coast nessed the incident believe the Coast league will be justified in taking some action to discipline the rowdy Householder. Late in the game with the home team four runs behind Householder waited for four balls instead of trying to hit. Pitcher C. Has had no intention of passing householder, and struck him out. When the umpire called the third strike Householder acted like a child and began to "rag" the umpire. When he started for his position in the field he continued his nagging tactics and applied language to the umpire that Davis could not help but resent. He naturally ordered Householder off the field, and the katter walked over to the bleachers and tried to incite the spectators to come on the field and help him. Davis stopped the game until Householder was removed. Most of the spectators thought Davis was right, and very few indorsed Householder's actions.

New York Labor Leader the Moses to Lead Ball Tossers From Under Heel of Magnates.

"Yes, I am helping the ball players to form an organization. They have grievances which, as individuals, they are powerless to correct. This is not the time to enumerate the grievances, but I may say that so far in the discussion of the wrongs they hope to right through organization, the question of salaries paid the players has not been raised.

"One doesn't have to be a victim of the system to see the injustice of the custom which prevails in relation to contracts, releases and the right of a player to play with the club of his own choice. There are many rules made and enforced by the magnates that are 13 conflict with our notions of freedom.'

What the Rule Says.

The only mention in the rule book of the same game is rule 74, which reads as follows:

New York, Aug. 5.—The professional baseball players of the country are being organized. The rumor has been confirmed. The work is in the hands of Herman Robinson, organizer and New York representative of the American Federation of Labor. When spoken to upon the subject today Mr. Robinson said:

"Yes, I am helping the ball players to distribution of functions between the two umpires, or a more particular rule."

The only mention in the rule book of the divided functions of two umpires in the same game is rule 74, which reads as follows:

"If two umpires be assigned to a game, the assistant umpire shall decide all plays at first and second bases." If this is taken as closely bounding the function of the second umpire, he does not have enough to do umpire, he does not have enough to do.

Two out of three times he can see what goes on at third base and what occurs in the outfield, for instance, whether an outfielder gets a low fly before it strikes the ground or not, much more plainly than the head arbiter behind the home plate. For instance, in the 3 to 0 game which Pitts-Spokane, Aug. 5.—John MacRae has been appointed an umpire in the Northwest league and will leave this eyening at 8 o'clock for Vancouver, where he hopes to arrive in time to umpire the game tomorrow between the Veterans and the Smokestackers.

The place was offered to Ralph Dodd of Spokane, but he was unable to get away from his business, and so MacRae. Third base, could easily see that he had not been touched, and declared him safe. Where Umpires Disagreed.

A great many times this year the umpires have disagreed on a plan, and the wrangling which is sure to come over an unfavorable decision has been increased two-fold. In Chicago, when Totals increased two-fold. In Chicago, when Comiskey tried to work off some tailored balls on the Highlanders, the umpires disagreed as to what constituted a proper playing sphere, and in the end the controversy was decided by Sheridan, who was assistant umpire, throwing back the undoubtedly pire, throwing back the undoubtedly him.

First Reported.

Spokane, Aug. 5.—W. H. Lucas, who resigned recently as president of the Northwest league, is in the city looking after some personal property and furniture which he has stored here. When a sked concerning his future plans now that he was out of the league, Mr. Lucas stated he had nothing definite in Mr. Lucas defined in the word out or authorized a reported interview in which he was quoted as saying he resigned from the Northwest is unnecessary confusion in games where there is more than one officialty interview in which he was quoted as saying he resigned from the Northwest is unnecessary confusion in games where there is more than one officialty interview in which he was quoted as saying he resigned from the Northwest in league because it was not a paying proposition and the best thing he could do was to get out. Said he:

"I resigned on account of the injunction granted by the Spokane courts. I respect the order of the courts and resigned for that reason."

The end the controversy was decided by Sheridan, who was assistant umpire, to dead the undoubtedly poor balls, although the rule did not specifically grant him the power to do so.

As the rule stands now the assistant umpire has to let go by decisions which the knows are absolutely unjust, or else to be one-half mile, or, as the starter should say, four times around the saucer track. Hardy says his terms are a side bet, not start on the scratch and "blouses his own brass and rides fair dinkum," as they say in Australia. It is now up to the Pride of Provo.

(Special Sporting Service.) Washington, D. C., Aug. 5-Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, of the Catholic university at Washington, does not believe like many of the heads of American colleges that athletics are carried too far, and that they are injurious to students. In a recent address to the graduating class of Villanova college he said:

"If you have neglected Virgil a little for football and baseball do not worry about it. The reasonable growth of athletics in our colleges has done more to train Americans in the science of team work, in obedience and in the subordination of self to the general good than all the axioms of arm chair psychologists.

"Athletics have driven out the wor-ship of the white shirt and the apoth-cosis of snobbishness and sloth. A man who goes in for good work on the field knows that he must get down to Mother Earth. He soon learns that clothes do not make the man, but that strength, skill and fair play help. Those mothers who weep over a lost tooth or a broken rib or two should remember that for every bruise their son receives there will be a falling off in the consumption of nicotine and alcohol."
